 African Grey Parrot Care - avianandexotic.com
 An African Grey parrot is one of the most intelligent birds we know. It needs lots of affection, freedom of movement, enough opportunities to keep occupied and regular contact with a person it knows and trusts. Frequent and long hours of being left alone combined with the restriction of movement in a cage are very harmful to parrots.

User Guide for IRFANVIEW African Greys need a great deal of stimulation, which means lots of room for toys and perches and space to flap their wings. The cage for a Grey older than one year of age should be AT LEAST 36" L by 24" W by 48" H (not counting the cage legs or stand). A good cage should have horizontal bars on at least two sides since parrots love to climb. African Grey - That Pet Place 1. Place the parrot's cage in a safe place. Give your African grey a chance to look at its new environment by putting the cage in an active space in your house. The cage should be elevated so your bird has a better view of the room, and may even be able to look out the window. 3 Ways to Socialize an African Grey Parrot - wikiHow Pet Title: Fergie manual Created Date: 12/10/2006 2:58:31 AM Fergie manual - Old Engine.org User Guide - IdeaPad / Lenovo Laptops, Tablets & Phones Lenovo Inc.
